FAT BOY DIET

Your Mental Outlook Is Important

By ELMER WHEELER

You'd be surprised how important your mental attitude is in this reducing business. I'm losing weight day by day, but I'm sure I wouldn't be doing it if I didn't have confidence in my ability to reduce.

YOU SEE, there's a scientific saying: Where there's a will there's a way. Many doctors say, "If he'd only decide to live I could help him."

Some hospitals today won't operate if you say, "I don't think I'll come through."

It's mind over matter. That psychosomatic stuff we hear so much about today.

I better call a halt on this kind of talk, though. My wife thinks I'm nuts.

NOW I'M no doc or diet expert, I'm just an avid reader, a fat boy who came to his senses just in time to see a good doctor and to read a lot of books on how to keep trim.

I learned such valuable things as "two glasses of water weigh a pound."

It is knowledge such as this that helped me to reduce.

I LEARNED that salt holds within the body 70 times its own weight in water. A spoonful of salt holds a pint of water — and that pint, as the expression goes, "weighs a pound the world around."

No wonder that, after dousing celery, butter and all my vegetables with salt and more salt, I became waterlogged. Instead of passing through me and washing me out, water was prolonging the visit like a mother-in-law.

So I stopped this "mother-in-law of the diet" with its long-drawn-out visits. I put a halt to salt.

I found that the cook did enough salting on an average to take care of my salt requirements.

I wasn't a miner. I didn't work in a steel mill. Things might have been different then.

I often broke up my crisp bacon into my boiled eggs. That salted the eggs all I needed.

I also used lots of pepper. This gave more flavor to foods needing salt, so that I could cheat on my salt.

PLYMOUTH RESTYLED FOR 1953

The 1953 Plymouth Cranbrook 4-door sedan features a completely new appearance, with 34 new style features. The new, low hood and one-piece constant-curved windshield provide exceptional driver visibility. A chrome speed-line sweeps back from the grille into the front fender, to be picked up again in the clean, straight-line rear fender emphasizing the long, low look. Chrysler Corporation officials claim the new Plymouth also has 38 new performance and safety features as well as 21 new comfort features. An appealing selection of solid and two-tone colour combinations with blending interior trims, available in seven Plymouth body styles for 1953.

Drumheller Boy New World Wheat King

DRUMHELLER—Ronald Leonhardt, 19, of Drumheller, Alberta, is the new World Wheat King. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Leonhardt, of Drumheller.

Ronald's first inkling of his success came to him on a radio broadcast Saturday morning.

Ronald was born in Drumheller, December 10, 1932, and has lived in this district all his life. A husky, good-looking youth, he stands 5 feet 10½ inches and weighs 190 pounds.

His parents came from Russia to Chicago in 1907, where Mr. Leonhardt worked as a farm laborer until 1911, when he came to the Drumheller district. They have farmed on their present farm since 1925. They have 300 acres.

Earlier this year Ronald attended the Junior Club Week at Olds where he was given a general agricultural course. Ronald won a $75 scholarship in the grain club section of the course. The scholarship is toward expenses at a school of agriculture.

On April 28 of this year, Ronald seeded the grain that was to bring him top honors in the wheat world. The wheat was certified Marquis wheat, raised at the farm of P. J. Rock and Son, just west of Drumheller.

Here on Oct. 25th his sample took second place in the Drumheller Junior Grain Club competition and second place in the Drumheller District Junior Seed Fair. Rickey Sharpe's sample was the only sample better than his own. Sharpe won the Reserve Championship at Toronto.

Referring to Rickey's sample, Ronald stated, "his sample seemed to be more uniform and I guess that is why I was placed second."

Impressive Remembrance Day Service Held

McMURRAY—A very impressive service was held in the McMurray Theatre on Remembrance Day, Tuesday, Nov. 11 when the veterans and their friends gathered in the theatre to remember the departed. A very impressive address was given by Rev. Father Turcott.

The veterans gathered at the Legion hall and marched to the end of Franklin Ave. under the command of Sgt.-Maj. Funnell where the new flag pole and flag was raised in memory of those who gave their all in the two great wars.

The mayor of the town, Mr. Paul Schmidt, gave a splendid address as the flag was raised, calling upon all to see that the flag would never be torn down by foreign power and it was for that reason that those who we are remembering gave their lives.

The Last Post was very ably sounded by Mr. Arthur Hardmon of McMurray.

Teachers, Students Build Skating Rink

PLAMONDON—Under the directions of Rev. Fr. Ricard, Rec. Fr. Duboi and teacher Mr. Girard, a skating rink has been built by the teachers and students of the high school here.

A very good job has been done and the boys expect to have a sheet of ice soon.

Some people think it is a major tragedy when their names are spelled wrong—in free publicity.

gives farming a real boost!

When your field work calls for more real pull, live-weight traction will see you through.

The hydraulic TRACTION BOOSTER in the CA and WD Tractors changes deadweight to liveweight. Weight of both tractor and implement is automatically shifted to bear down on drive wheels when soil is stubborn and tillage is tough.

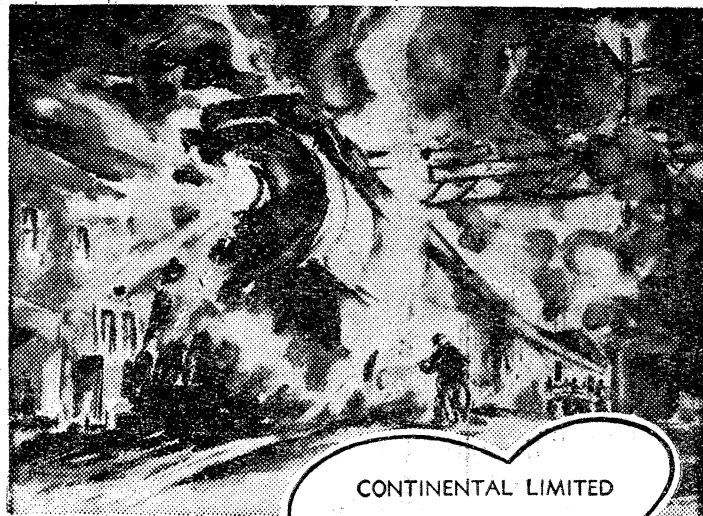

The hydraulic TRACTION BOOSTER reduces wheel slippage — enables the CA and WD to do draw-bar jobs that normally would require heavier tractors. Stop in and let us show you how it works.

City Assures House Builders Lots For '53

A dinner meeting was held at the Corona Hotel by the Builder Members of the Edmonton House Builders' Association to discuss the land situation for the coming year.

Commissioner D. B. Menzies was guest speaker of the evening. The situation regarding lots was covered in all districts of the city. It was found there should be sufficient city owned lots available to meet the requirements of the 1953 house building program.

During the general discussion period it was pointed out that in building NHA houses under the controlled selling price it is impossible to pay high prices for land. If lots are not obtainable for a reasonable price builders will not be interested in purchasing privately owned lots for the 1954 building program.

The Commissioner stated that utilities and services could only be supplied in districts that were city owned or owned by builders with definite building commitments.

All builder members were present. Association president, Mr. G. F. Mulek, was in the chair. Mr. Ross Grady moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Menzies for able coverage and discussion of the land situation.

Impressive Remembrance Day Services Held

LAC LA BICHE—

"In Flanders Fields the poppies blow

Between the crosses, row on row . . ."

This poem, written by John McCrae is remembered every year on Remembrance Day and Lac a Biche is no exception.

A parade was held here, starting from the Memorial Hall to the cenotaph. Leading it were: Rev. McGrane, representing the Navy; Rene Rizzoli, representing the Army, and Jack Kimm, the Air Force, all carrying wreaths; followed by Mr. Jack Williams, the Sea Cadet boys, directed by Mr.

Wolstenholme. After these were men in either service, some in uniforms, others dressed as civilians.

On reaching the cenotaph, standing guard were Constables Kennedy, Norton and Hyrb. A ceremony was conducted by Rev. Douglas Greenough. The wreaths were then laid by the servicemen.

Two minutes' silence was broken by an eight-gun salute, also were held for the dead.

After this they marched to their churches where services held for the dead.

A dance was held in the evening, sponsored by the Legion. Music was supplied by the Rich Lake orchestra. The '52 Dodge car was won by Mrs. P. Benwick of Craigend.

Barnegat News Briefs

A very successful dance was held in the Big Bay school November 7 to raise Christmas funds for the school children. It was very well attended and every one seemed to enjoy themselves.

Mr. Art Shirmacher suffered a painful accident while working in Lac la Biche as carpenter. A hammer flew from the hands of another workman and landed squarely on Art's chin. Stitches were required to close the wound and a number of his teeth were knocked loose, which required a trip to Edmonton. He's home now, recovering, but is still on a soup diet.

Misses Doris and Shirley Terrien have gone into the city for a few days' visit. They drove in with Mr. Steve Ewanchuk.

Everyone is glad to hear Elgie Shirmacher is now out of hospital following his accident. As luck would have it, his Dad, Ernie Shirmacher, had the misfortune to fall and fracture several ribs.

Miss Leola Shirmacher spent the week-end at home, and her uncle, Mr. Clifford Goad, who is visiting here, drove her back to Grassland, where she is teaching school.

What does $160 million oil money mean to Albertans?

Since 1946, the people of Alberta have benefited to the tune of more than $160,000,000 through oil industry payments to their government

This money is helping to provide schools, roads, bridges and other assets. It is helping to pay off debts. If this $160,000,000 oil money were not available — if the oil companies had not gambled and brought in oil — it would cost every Alberta taxpayer on the average more than $500 for the benefits the oil revenue are making possible.

Royalties, rentals, bonus and other payments — government revenue from the oil industry is doing a big job. It is bringing closer the day when Alberta, alone among the provinces, will be debt free.

Alberta is a good place in which to live, work and bring up a family.

Oil is making it an even better place.

Efficient Farmers

There is a feeling the British ministry of agriculture has lost a drive to increase farming efficiency in that country. It is claimed that last year the wheat yield was down by about 12 per cent, rye 25 per cent, oats 16 per cent, potatoes by more than 150 thousand tons, while production of mutton and lamb has dropped by eight thousand tons. During the same period 261 million fewer eggs had been produced and of the nation's need of 265 thousand tons of butter only six thousand tons had been forthcoming in the country's dairy industry.

It is proposed to conduct farm surveys every three years and those farmers who fail to meet the required standards will be weeded out to make room for more efficient men.

Sodium Fluoride In Water

A number of communities have conducted studies to determine the effect of sodium fluoride on drinking water. In 1944 such a study was begun in two New York communities, Newburgh and Kingston. Kingston citizens were to drink fluoridated water, while Newburgh people drank ordinary water for a period of 10 years.

The 10-year period is not up yet, but the Health Department of the State of New York has reported the interim results. It seems that children who drink water with sodium fluoride added have 47 per cent less tooth decay.

According to Dr. Bruce F. Forsyth, Chief Dental Officer of the Public Health Service, fluoridation is 'the most remarkable public health preventive developed in this country.'

An Experiment In Immigration

Fifty farm families, who lived in the northern part of the Netherlands near Hoogeveen, are in the process of moving to Brazil to found a new community. The Brazilian government has staked off a 12,000-acre tract for the band of 300 who are bringing with them 1,000 cows, 15 jeeps, 12 tractors, an entire dairy plant, 55,000 pounds of seed and seed potatoes, and 550,000 pounds of fertilizer.

These Dutch families are taking to Brazil capital valued at $375,000, or approximately $7,500 a family. This is four times as much as the Dutch government has previously permitted emigrating families to take out of the country.

Generally speaking, the countries of Europe are over-crowded, and it is in their interest to have some of their citizens migrate to another country like Brazil where there is more land than people. There are many sparsely settled countries that need settlers, but the stumbling block is usually the refusal of the over-populated country to allow its citizens to carry capital out of the country.

The policy of the Dutch government is no exception to the general rule: emigrants are not allowed to carry out an adequate amount of capital goods. As a matter of fact, it took a special act of Parliament to arrange this exception to the general policy so that these 50 families could take with them the capital that would be needed to make them an immediate asset to Brazil where capital goods are in short supply.

Brazilian authorities are co-operating with the Dutch by providing interest-free loans to build houses and develop the farms. Brazil is also sharing transportation cost with the Provisional Inter-government of migrants from Europe which has agreed to contribute up to $30,000.

It is quite possible that this example of planned emigration may set the pattern for future emigration. It is certainly true that this emigration bridgehead will provide opportunities for later Dutch settlers who will probably not require as much livestock and equipment to get started.

Loose Housing Of Dairy Cattle

In recent years the question of loose housing of dairy cattle has been to the fore. This housing method of cattle management is not new, indeed the principles of the system have been used for generations. Experiments on sheltering dairy cows in cold sheds were made on this continent almost fifty years ago. More recently, special types of stalls and equipment have been developed to facilitate the milking of cows housed by this method.

With the loose housing system the cattle are not tied but are permitted to move at will in a shelter or barn and in an adjoining exercising yard. The shelter provided consists of a building partially opened at the front, having an inside temperature approximately the same as that outside. Within the shelter a manure pack is allowed to accumulate to furnish a warm bed for the cattle. In this type of unit the labor of moving feed and equipment is greatly reduced because the cows move to the feed or feeders, and to the milking equipment in the milking room.

For some time officials of the Animal Husbandry and Engineering Divisions of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have been studying this method as opposed to the more conventional system of housing cattle. Available published material on the subject has been reviewed and actual housing units have been established at a number of Experimental Stations across Canada.

The conclusions, along with photographs and plans of a satisfactory layout are contained in a new bulletin "Loose Housing of Dairy Cattle." The subject is completely covered and includes chapters on requirements for a loose housing unit, its management and estimated labor requirements as compared with the more general method of housing.

The bulletin may be obtained from the Information Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa by asking for Publication 874.

Air Base At Thule

Announcement that Edmonton is to be on a new California to Europe Airline has sort of "taken the lid off" news of the new U.S. strategic air base now in the process of building at Thule, Greenland, which is only 930 miles from the North Pole. This air base is possible through a treaty with Denmark which owns the great island of Greenland.

A quick glance at a globe of the world will reveal that this air base will make it possible for Canadian and American bombers and fighters to sit on top of the world, relatively near the great Russian land mass.

Constructing an air base at this out-of-the-way place was a difficult job and involved many hardships. Since shipping is blocked for all but two or three months of the year, the bulk of the job of transporting workers and materials has fallen on big transport planes.

Out Of Politics

(From the Calgary Albertan)

Liquor is a touchy political question, in British Columbia as everywhere else. The voters, by a margin of three to two, favored the sale of liquor by the glass in licensed establishments, in a plebiscite held in conjunction with the June election. But the new Social Credit government is not anxious to proceed on its own authority. It is obviously reluctant to implement the plebiscite decision.

So it has turned the question over to a three-man commission, which will recommend legislation and regulations. There can be little criticism of that move. Such problems should be kept separate from party politics, and only such an independent commission can do it.

Danger Spots That Breed Communism

By L. W. NEWCOMBE

Egypt and Iran are considered the world's danger spots today.

In no place on the earth does so much suffering exist as in the Arab East and in such soil Communism seeds itself and thrives.

To have food enough would spell heaven to 80 per cent of the Egyptian people. Ninety-five per cent of the wealth of the country is in the hands of Pashas, landlords, bankers and industrialists who constitute about two per cent of the population of 18 million. Sixty per cent of the children die before the age of six, and the life expectancy is a 30-year average. As one has said, "Allah has rightly made mortality; we would all starve if it were not so". Yes, the people live, starve, sicken and die in terrible misery, while the rich live in the exotic luxury of a gilded fairyland.

Many thousands of dollars are collected from foreigners for aid, but corruption prevents much of it from reaching the needy. Tons of drugs, like quinine, given by America in the war were stolen and sold in the black market. The war against Israel was regarded as but another method of gain. Princes, generals and contractors made fortunes out of it.

The first piece of domestic legislation attempted by Egypt's new strong man, General Nguib, is a land-reform bill intended to break up all estates of more than 200 acres. His second plan is to reorganize and re-equip the Egyptian army. General Nguib has the reputation of being a square-shooter and incorruptible, and he has at least some of the younger officers with him.

As I write the news comes that he has fired the Premier and dozens of other officials, having met with much opposition to his reform program. It looks like the General means to stand firm.

Nguib's intention seems to be to clean up corruption in the army and among the ruling classes, and to strengthen the army to 250,000 trained fighting men. If he succeeds Egypt can become a real power, independent of the West but also of Russia, which latter has been of primary concern to Britain and America. If Nguib entrusts his power to unsure hands or is thwarted by some means or other, Russia stands ready to try her more extreme and direct method.

Iran is in a more dangerous position, largely because of years of neglect of the humanities by both the ruling classes and by the dominant power in the country, the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. The oil company had been in a position to direct and force a correction of the abuses and exploitation of the inhabitants. It was about the only business. It furnished the government's income from the royalties it paid. There are 41,000 villages in Iran and 40,000 are owned by landlords; such a state of affairs could not endure forever. As in Egypt, the ruling classes were able to blame the British for the unrest among the peasants rather than their own cupidity. The rights or otherwise of the oil company must now be a secondary consideration to preventing Russia from taking over by internal revolution.

Mossadegh has made some progress in redressing the people's grievances by directing that a larger share of the oil's products go to the worker (nearly 50 per cent), and 10 per cent more to the government. Iran is still a feudal country in that the big holders are still the most powerful and can hardly be controlled by piecemeal measures. Again Moscow stands prepared to use her methods at the first opportunity.

Aircraft Put Down At RCAF Base Enroute From Tennessee To Alaska

By FLORENCE E. FORSYTHE

Wednesday evening, October 29, at 6:05, a C119 packet plane, the first of 86 transport planes which landed at the Edmonton RCAF station at 30-minute intervals for a total period of 50 hours, settled down on the runway. The C119 is a member of Operation Warmwind en route from Nashville, Tenn., to Big Delta, Alaska at which point the airborne troops, 503 Regimental Combat team will land and engage in battle with the aggressors who are already stationed there.

The crew is made up of 18 participants are, for the most part, familiar with war in other climates. Eighty-five per cent of the aircrews are vets of World War II and 60 per cent are Korean veterans. Some of the equipment which is being used, is being tested for use in Korea.

The C119 packet plane, with a wing span of 109' 3", length 86' 6" and height 26' 8", an impressive appearing masterpiece, carries a normal load of 42 fully equipped paratroopers; however, by carrying less gas in the supply tank, the plane can carry as many as 80 passengers. They have a range of 300 km at 18,000 feet while travelling at the speed of 180 knots. For landing purposes they require a runway 3,000 feet long and have reversible props.

The Canadian army and air force also figured very efficiently into Operation Warmwind while the American troops stopped off in Edmonton for a 10-hour period during which time the Canadian army took care of them. Buses transported the men from the plane to temporary quarters where they were fed by the army and given a place to sleep. Following

Wedding

VINCENT - ULLIAC

PLAMONDON—A lovely wedding was blessed at St. Isidors Church in Plamondon by Rev. Fr. Ricard on October 27, when Melanie Ulliac, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francois Ulliac of Gourin, and Roland, second son of the late Mr. Leon Vincent and Mrs. L. Vincent of Normandeau, were united in marriage.

The bride was beautiful in a floor-length gown of nylon net and lace, a lovely head-dress held the long fine veil, her bouquet was pink carnations and her only jewelry was a rhinestone neck lace.

Madeleine, sister of the bride, and Jeanette Schaub, were bridesmaids, dressed alike in floor-length rose-taffeta dresses. Their chapel veils were held in place by wreaths of pink carnations. The girls' jewelry was gold locket and they carried bouquets of nosegays.

Lillianne and Vivianne, four-year-old twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. Porodo, were flower girls. Both wore floor-length crinoline dresses in pink sparkling net, with a sky-blue satin ribbon at the waist, and each wore a wreath of white gar-the ten hours of repose, army buses returned them to their waiting plane.

LETTERS TO LOUISA

Dear Louisa:

Some wives and mothers enjoy being self-sacrificing. They love to be looked upon as martyrs and known as women who give up all for their children and husbands. Let me be put down as one who does not—who thinks that the best way to spoil a family is to be a first class servant and doormat for them.

However, protest as I may, the entire family has been, cast for the part and I find it difficult to escape.

Let me explain. The two younger children are too small to be left alone but, suppose there is a concert I wish to hear. The three older children have engagements and father has to attend one of the various meetings he attends each week. Of course, the children have had dates several times this week already and this is the only concert I'll hear for several months but not one of them or their father dream that they should give up the evening so that I can get out.

Father has an opportunity to go with a friend on a nice trip with half of the ordinary expense. It seems too good a chance to miss, so he goes, although he feels that he can't afford it.

Money is very scarce, but the two girls wish to go on a sorority party at the beach. Father realizes that they are only young once so he rustles around and gets up the money. Ted, the oldest, trades his car for a better one but lacks fifty dollars. It is a very good bargain, so Father naturally comes to his aid.

But, in the meantime, we are invited to hear a famous artist perform and to attend a dinner afterwards in his honor in a neighboring city. I am thrilled and begin making my plans.

Father says he is sorry to disappoint me but expenses have been so heavy that he just doesn't see how we can afford the trip. It may cost all of ten or fifteen dollars. Of course, it happens to be the only expense that I have been concerned in but if I should insist on going, six pairs of hurt and resentful eyes would gaze upon me and marvel at my selfishness and lack of consideration.

Can you beat this?

CONFUSED.

Answer:

You undoubtedly started your married life off wrong. In an effort to live up to your husband's ideal of womanly virtues you probably let him think you enjoyed self-sacrifice if it was for him, and, before you knew it, you were old lady Self Sacrifice in person. The children probably followed father's lead and as there is nothing quite as convenient to have around the house as a goat, they refuse to let you give up the part.

The time has come to make them realize that regardless of the fact that you are a mother who has her family's best interest at heart, you are also a human being who has the same capacity for enjoyment that other humans, such as boys, girls and men, have. That while it is true that happiness comes from within, you would also enjoy a little of that which comes from without and that it is now their time to try the one from within, for a while, at least.

I doubt if you will succeed but I wish you luck.

LOUISA.

Drank too Much; Case Dropped

EDMONTON—A charge of attempted suicide against a 22-year-old Edmonton man who recently tried to leap from the High Level bridge was withdrawn when the magistrate said the accused was "too drunk to know what he was doing".

The man was prevented from making the jump by a taxi-driver, who had driven him and his girl friend to the bridge.

Defence counsel said the man drank an "unusual" amount of liquor prior to making the suicide threat. The magistrate described the amount as "stupendous."

This happened to me when one summer day I was washing clothes and I was in a terrible mess. While expecting my sister and brother-in-law, a truck just like theirs was coming to our place, so I went outside, carrying the tub out and at the same time to meet them. Was I ever embarrassed when the truck came near and there were two strangers in it. I didn't know whether to run away or just stand there.

Having moved into a furnished apartment, I was busily scrubbing it when a new neighbor came to call. After introducing myself, I remarked that the former tenant must have been lazy to leave the apartment so dirty. "I lived here before!" she retorted. "I moved two days ago!" F. T.

Completely New Plymouth Models Now On Display Throughout Canada

The new Plymouth models for 1953 are on display today in dealers' showrooms throughout Canada. These are the most completely new Plymouths to be presented to the public in the quarter century since the original models rolled off the assembly lines, according to John C. McGuire, Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, director and general sales manager of the Chrysler-Plymouth-Fargo division.

New body designs give a long, low appearance. The hood is lower and more streamlined, affording greater vision of the road ahead. A new one-piece curved windshield is optically designed to minimize reflections, according to the Chrysler engineers, and a wider wrap-around rear window greatly improves visibility to the sides and rear. Total glass area has been increased almost 16 per cent for a virtually 360 degree vision range.

While both overall length and height of the new Plymouth have been reduced for greater ease of handling and improved appearance, the passenger room in both front and rear compartments has been increased in the new design. There is more leg and head room, and the rear Plymouth seat is over eight inches wider than that of the previous model.

The new Plymouth features long, sweeping rear fenders, and a wide rear deck. The new trunk has been increased 30 per cent in capacity, with hinges spaced at the outer edges so they cannot close down on the luggage when the lid is shut.

One of the most outstanding improvements, say Chrysler officials, is the new Plymouth Balanced Ride. By a new system of springing and weight distribution, the cars are balanced against roll, pitch and bounce. Increased stability on turns, and consequent easier handling of the car is said to result, with much greater smoothness when travelling over rough roads.

Seven different body styles are offered in the two new Plymouth lines for 1953. In the Cambridge line are the Four Door Sedan and the Suburban. The Cranbrook line features the Four Door Sedan, Club Coupe, Convertible Coupe, Belvedere Hardtop and Suburban.

An innovation in all models having a divided front seat is the new 1/3-2/3 seat back division instead of the traditional center division, to permit easier entrance and exit of the rear seat passengers. Two can sit comfortably in the front seat while the remainder of the seat back is tilted forward for easier back-seat access.

Beauty and utility combine in the new instrument grouping, which occupies a long, horizontal island set into the instrument panel itself. A thoughtful touch is the centre-mounted glove compartment, convenient to both passenger and driver.

Other interesting features of the new Plymouth include wider rear doors on the sedans, which allow much easier entrance and exit, a new wider frame and new spring design which, it is said, gives additional resistance to road twist, and swept-back windows which provide rear-seat passengers with increased visibility. A new rear location of the gasoline-tank filler cap permits easier filling from either right or left.

Eight standard body colours are offered, with two metallic colours at extra cost. A choice of 16 two-tone colour combinations may be had at extra cost. Overdrive and Solex-tinted safety glass also are available for all models.

OTTAWA — (BUP) — Canada's population increases by 1,149 per day, the Bureau of Statistics reports.

The two other squadrons in the movement are 416 Squadron, Uplands, Ont., and 421 Squadron now based at St. Hubert, Que. On arrival at Gros Tenuin, the three squadrons will bring Canadian fighter strength in Europe to six squadrons, half of Canada's proposed air contribution to NATO. Three squadrons have been stationed at North Luffenham, England, for some months. The peace-time presence of Canadian fighter squadrons in France will mark another milestone in RCAF history as will the Atlantic crossing, en masse, of more than 60 aircraft in "Operation Leap Frog II." — (National Defence Photo).

A PAGE OF NEWS PICTURES

FLYING CANUCKS — Three CF-100 Canucks of the RCAF are seen here in flight near their home base at North Bay, Ont. These aircraft, destined to play a key role in Canada's air defence scheme, will be used to train jet pilots and navigators who will eventually serve with squadrons fully-equipped with the Canadian designed and built all-weather interceptor. This conversion training will be carried out by the RCAF's Operational Training Unit at North Bay.—(National Defence Photo).

HMCS WARRIOR, Canada's largest capital warship is pictured as it tied up in Magdalena Bay, Mexico. The final port of call on this trip will be Esquimalt, B.C., which trip will be made via Panama Canal. Also visible here are the Warrior's complement of planes ready for take off.

War Amputees Have Own Car Controls

LIMBLESS VETERANS in Britain have had a set of automobile controls specially designed for them by the automotive industry and the medical profession. The special fittings total five, but only three are needed by any particular type of amputee, various combinations of the three providing safe, easy driving for nine different types of amputees.

Left: Former Squadron-Leader G. C. S. Hodgkinson, R.A.F. pilot who lost both legs in the Battle of Britain, gets into his specially equipped car. The seat has a long-travel, tubular seat-side to accommodate artificial legs. He was driving in London traffic with perfect control after 20 minutes tuition.

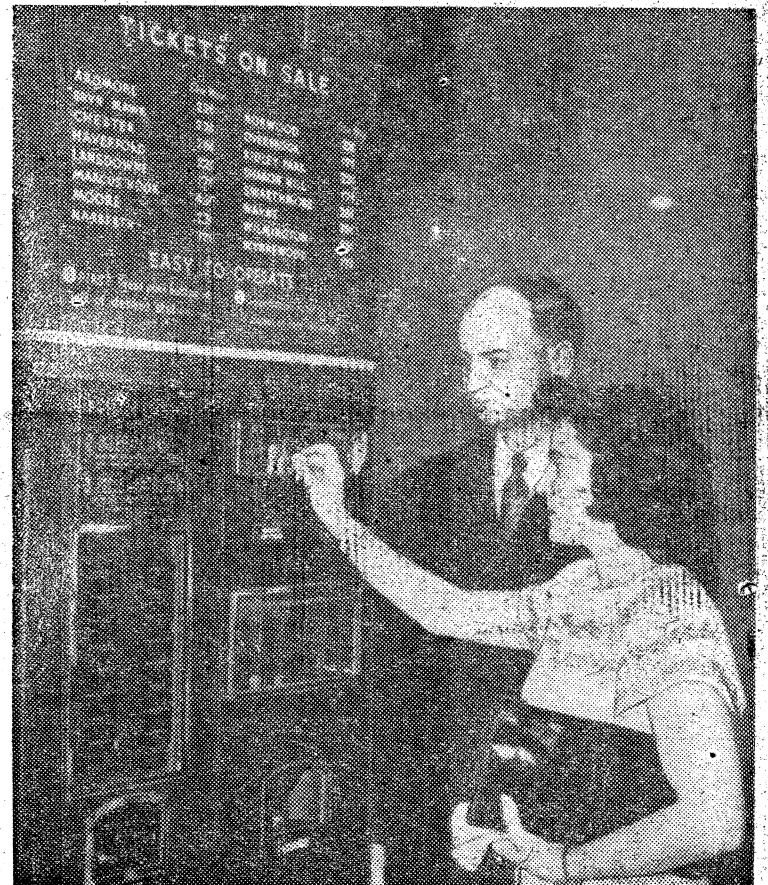

Top: The fittings indicated by arrows and numbers. They are: 1, combined clutch and hand throttle; 2, brake control; 3, combined foot-brake and clutch (upper portion of pedal, operated by toe, is the brake, and the lower, operated by heel, the clutch); 4, alternative combined clutch and brake (a modification of 3); 5, vacuum servo pressure gauge (vacuum servo motors supply power for easier working of controls). The remaining three numbers are normal British controls, as follows: 6 accelerator; 7, gear lever; 8, hand-brake. It was recently stated that Britain had one in seven of her working population suffering from some disability or another. Women and children, besides men on foreign fighting fronts, were maimed when bombs and V-weapons struck them in their homes.

VERSATILE SINGERS—Although their choral work is considered outstanding in Canada and the United States, members of the Don Wright Chorus are not professional singers. Here seen taking a "breather" between songs on their Sunday night radio program, the Don Wright Choristers, when not engaged in group singing, are housewives, stenographers, receptionists, salesmen, business executives or school teachers.

Automatic Ticket Salesman

The Pennsylvania Railroad has placed the first automatic ticket vending machine in operation at its suburban Philadelphia station. Shown above, the machine prints and issues ticket and gives change if coins exceed the amount of the fare. The inventor, RALPH V. ANDERSON of New York City, watches MISS TERESA CANNITA, of Philadelphia, operate the device. The fare is marked alongside the station names on the front of the machine.

WHEN QUEEN ELIZABETH, as the Princess, visited Canada last year, her favorite type of footwear was the black suede oxford shown here. A Canadian manufacturer has since duplicated the style which has become quite popular among style-conscious ladies.

Annual Parish Bazaar Surpasses Own Record; Most Successful Ever

LAC LA BICHE—The Annual Parish Bazaar, sponsored by St. Catherine's Parish and organized by the Ladies of St. Catherine's, held in the Memorial Hall on Thursday, Nov. 6th, was the most successful ever held.

It was thought that the ladies would not be able to equal their success of last year but they even surpassed it. This year the money made will be most useful, as the church has just been enlarged and renovated, and now the finishing touches have to be made and, of course, paid for. The weather this year was ideal and never before has it been so warm during the month of November.

The success of this annual event is due largely to the president and executive of the parish organization, "The Ladies of St. Catherine's," coupled with the co-operation of all the membership. The women had worked for weeks in preparation for this great event and so it could not really be called a one day effort, as the real hard work had been going on a long time before.

As usual the bazaar opened in the afternoon, with its lunch and tea, followed by the usual sale of articles, and even this display was greater than that of previous years and the work was of such high standard. Then, of course, there were the usual attractions, fish pond for the kiddies, etc. In the evening the bazaar was in full swing, the men of the parish coming into their own with the gigantic bingo. No wonder two of the town's business men were hoarse the next day.

A new novelty was the selling of "oil shares." This stand was made up by Ted Mackriss and it was a large display depicting an oil field, complete with derricks, railroads, road signs, etc. There were three "producers" and the skill needed was to be able to locate the gushers and claims staked all over the display. The winners were: 1st, Margaret Huppie; 2nd, Mrs. F. Parent and 3rd, Lottie Nashim. During the evening, two other raffles were run off and a pair of Hudson's Bay blankets were won by Mrs. Martiel Servonnet, and the tea set by Mrs. E. Coutney.

The ladies of the parish, through their president, Mrs. J. B. Bouvier, wish to thank all those who helped in any way to make the bazaar the success it was, and they take this opportunity to sincerely thank all those who attended the bazaar and all those local merchants and friends who so generously donated articles.
